MORNING AND EVENING STARS.

DEFINITION.—The planet Venus is called a Morning Star when she rises before the Sun, and an Evening Star when she sets after the Sun. The planets Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn may be considered Morning and Evening Stars when they rise shortly before the Sun, or set shortly after the Sun, in the same manner as Venus does. But they may also be considered as Evening Stars when they rise before twelve o'clock at night, and as morning Stars when they are visible before sunrise, until the day when they set on or before sunrise.

The following tables have been prepared according to the preceding definition:

Morning Stars.

Venus, until May 6. Mars, until June 6.

Mars is also visible before sunrise until about September 5; after which date he sets before sunrise earlier every day.

Jupiter, until April 13.

Jupiter is also visible before sunrise until about June 22; after which date he sets before sunrise earlier every day.

Saturn, from March 1 to June 16.

Saturn is also visible before sunrise until about the middle of September, when he sets before sunrise earlier every day.

Evening Stars.

Venus, after May 6.

Mars, after June 6, rising after that date before midnight.

Jupiter, after April 13, rising before midnight.

Saturn, until March 1, and also after June 16, at which date he begins to rise before midnight.

The position in the heavens of the four bright planets, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn, are best determined by an observer without instruments by means of their times of rising, passing the meridian, and setting.

Explanation of the above Table.

In the table above it is to be understood that the word "near" and the character ☌ (conjunction) are synonymous, and mean that the two bodies are nearest each other at the time expressed, and that they are then on a line running from the North Pole through both bodies, and have the same right ascension. GR. ELON. means greatest elongation, or greatest apparent angular distance from the SUN. STATIONARY means that the planet is then without apparent motion east or west with respect to the Stars, and is about to move in a direction contrary to that it last had. The character ☍ indicates that the planet is opposite the Sun, or 180 deg., or a half circle, east of it, and rises when the Sun sets, and sets when he rises. When a planet is a quarter of a circle, or 90 deg. from the Sun, east or west, it is known by □.

PLANETARY CHARACTERS. — ☿ Mercury, ♀ Venus, ♂ Mars, ♃ Jupiter, ♄ Saturn, ♅ Uranus, ♆ Neptune, ☉ Moon.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

WE, the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1.

All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consistof a Senate and House of Representatives.

SECTION 2.

The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States; and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three; Massachusetts eight; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one; Connecticut five; New York six; New Jersey four; Pennsylvania eight; Delaware one; Maryland six; Virginia ten; North Carolina five; South Carolina five; and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECTION 3.

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each State, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice-President of the United States shall be president of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

SECTION 4.

The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the place of choosing senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year; and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION 5.

Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day; and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on the question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECTION 6.

The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SECTION 7.

All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated; who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him; or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECTION 8.

The Congress shall have power:

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises; to pay the debts, and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes.

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States.

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures.

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States.

To establish post-offices and post-roads.

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

To constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court; to define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations.

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water.

To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years.

To provide and maintain a navy.

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions.

To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States; reserving to the States respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress.

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dockyards, and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SECTION 9.

The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State.

No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one State be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

SECTION 10.

No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts; or grant any title of nobility.

No State shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports and exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress. No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1.

The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years; and together with the Vice-President chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective States and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the president of the Senate. The president of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of the electors appointed: and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said house shall, in like manner, choose the President. But in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of a President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice-President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the Vice-President.*

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-President; and the Congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice-President, declaring what officer shall then act as President; and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased or diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States; and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

SECTION 2.

The President shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECTION 3.

He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper. He shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECTION 4.

The President, Vice-President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1.

The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECTION 2.

The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more States; between a State and citizens of another State, between citizens of different States, between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens, or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a State shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SECTION 3.

Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1.

Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State; and the Congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SECTION 2.

The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

A person charged in any State with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another State, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one State under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor; but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SECTION 3.

New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State, nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or part of States, without the consent of the legislatures of the States concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

SECTION 4.

The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and, on application of the legislature or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution; or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this Constitution shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

AMENDMENTS.

ARTICLE I.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall he be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise reexamined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another State, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign State.

ARTICLE XII.

The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. They shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and, in distinct ballots, the person voted for as Vice-President; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the president of the Senate. The president of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be the President, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But, in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President. A quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President, shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.

Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of the representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

No person shall be a senator or representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States, nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

The thirteenth, by the Thirty-eighth Congress, February 1, 1865, and declared ratified December 18, 1865. The fourteenth, by the Thirty-ninth Congress, June 13, 1866, and declared ratified July 28, 1868. The fifteenth, by the Fortieth Congress, February 26, 1869, and declared ratified March 30, 1870.

Constitutional Amendments in the States.

IN CALIFORNIA and NEW HAMPSHIRE, Conventions have been called.

IN CONNECTICUT, six Amendments were ratified in October last. One relates to new towns. The second applies sect. 2, art. 4, and amendments thereto, to all elections after November, 1876. The third fixes the term of Common Pleas judges and district judges at four years; city and police courts, two. The fourth provides for election of judges of probate. The fifth limits compensation of members of the General Assembly to $300 a year, and one mileage each way for each session. The sixth erases the word "white" from Art. 8 of the Amendments.

IN MAINE, several Constitutional Amendments were ratified by the people, in September last. The principal are:

"The Legislature shall, from time to time, provide, as far as practicable, by general laws, for all matters appertaining to special or private legislation."

"Corporations shall be formed under general laws, and shall not be created by special acts of the Legislature, except for municipal purposes and in cases where the object of the corporation cannot otherwise be attained; and, however formed, they shall forever be subject to the general laws of the State."

"All taxes upon real and personal estate assessed by the authority of this State, shall be apportioned and assessed equally, according to the just value thereof."

"The Legislature shall never, in any manner, suspend or surrender the power of taxation."

"The Legislature may enact laws excluding from the right of suffrage, for a term not exceeding ten years, all persons convicted of bribery at any election, or of voting at any election under the influence of a bribe."

IN 1875, an Amendment was adopted in MINNESOTA, allowing women of twenty-one years of age and upward, to vote at any election for school officers, or upon any measure relating to schools, and to be eligible to hold any office pertaining solely to the management of schools.

IN ALABAMA, ARKANSAS, MISSOURI, NEBRASKA and TEXAS, new Constitutions have recently been adopted.

IN KANSAS, two amendments were adopted placing guards upon the drawing of money from the treasury, and modifying the terms of county officers.

IN LOUISIANA, Amendments were adopted in November, 1876, limiting the expenses of General Assembly to $175,000 per session; abrogating parish courts, and enlarging the jurisdiction of the district courts; fixing the Governor's salary at $6,000 a year; and abolishing fees or perquisites of office in the offices of the Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney General, and District Attorneys.

IN NEW YORK, two Amendments were ratified in November last, as follow:

THE CANAL AMENDMENT.

"Resolved, That section three of article five of the Constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 3. A Superintendent of Public Works shall be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and hold his office until the end of the term of the Governor by whom he was nominated, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. He shall receive a compensation, to be fixed by law. He shall be required by law to give security for the faithful execution of his office before entering upon the duties thereof. He shall be charged with the execution of all laws relating to the repair and navigation of the canals; and also of those relating to the construction and improvement of the canals, except so far as the execution of the laws relating to such construction or improvement shall be confided to the State Engineer and Surveyor; subject to the control of the Legislature, he shall make the rules and regulations for the navigation or use of the canals. He may be suspended or removed from office by the Governor whenever, in his judgment, the public interest shall so require; but, in case of the removal of such Superintendent of Public Works from office, the Governor shall file with the Secretary of State a statement of the cause of such removal, and shall report such removal and the cause thereof to the Legislature at its next session. The Superintendent of Public Works shall appoint not more than three assistant superintendents, whose duties shall be prescribed by him, subject to modification by the Legislature, and who shall receive for their services a compensation to be fixed by law. They shall hold their office for three years, subject to suspension or removal by the Superintendent of Public Works, whenever, in his judgment, the public interest shall so require. Any vacancy in the office of any such assistant superintendent shall be filled for the remainder of the term for which he was appointed by the Superintendent of Public Works; but in case of the suspension or removal of any such assistant superintendent by him, he shall at once report to the Governor in writing the cause of such removal. All other persons employed in the care and management of the canals, except collectors of tolls, and those in the department of the State Engineer and Surveyor, shall be appointed by the Superintendent of Public Works, and be subject to suspension or removal by him. The office of Canal Commissioner is abolished from and after the appointment and qualification of the Superintendent of Public Works, until which time the Canal Commissioners shall continue to discharge their duties as now provided by law. The Superintendent of Public Works shall perform all the duties of the Canal Commissioners and Board of Canal Commissioners, as now declared by law, until otherwise provided by the Legislature. The Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall have power to fill vacancies in the office of Superintendent of Public Works; if the Senate be not in session, he may grant commissions which shall expire at the end of the next succeeding session of the Senate."

THE STATE PRISON AMENDMENT.

"Resolved, That section four of article five of the Constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 4. A Superintendent of State Prisons shall be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and hold his office for five years, unless sooner removed; he shall give security in such amount and with such sureties as shall be required by law for the faithful discharge of his duties; he shall have the superintendence, management, and control of State prisons, subject to such law as now exist or may hereafter be enacted; he shall appoint the agents, wardens, physicians, and chaplains of the prisons. The agent and warden of each prison shall appoint all other officers of such prisons, except the clerk, subject to the approval of the same by the Superintendent. The Controller shall appoint the clerks of the prisons. The Superintendent shall have all the powers and perform all the duties not inconsistent herewith, which have heretofore been had and performed by the Inspectors of State Prisons; and from and after the time when such Superintendent of State Prisons shall have been appointed and qualified, the office of Inspector of State Prisons shall be and hereby is abolished. The Governor may remove the Superintendent for cause at any time, giving to him a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity to be heard in his defense."

IN NORTH CAROLINA, Amendments were adopted in November, to take effect January 1, 1877 providing for biennial sessions and elections, and limiting compensation of members of General Assembly to sixty days; modifying the judicial system; establishing separate public schools for for white and colored children, and prohibiting marriage between a white person and a negro, or a white person and a person of negro descent to the third generation inclusive.

IN RHODE ISLAND, all the proposed Amendments were rejected in November. One gave foreign-born soldiers and sailors, citizens of U. S., honorably discharged from service during the "late war," the same right to vote in the election of all civil officers, and on all questions in all legally organized town, district or ward meetings, on the same conditions as native-born citizens. Another, abolishing the registry tax, gave every male citizen, 21 years, with two years' residence in the State and six months' in the district, a right to vote for all civil officers and in town meetings, except in election of city council in any city, or on any proposition to impose a tax, or for the expenditure of money in any town or city, unless he has paid a tax on his property valued at least at $134. Another looked to the adoption of a general corporation law.

IN VIRGINIA, all the proposed Amendments were adopted in November. One requires that all persons, before voting, shall have paid a State capitation tax, disfranchises all persons convicted of bribery at any election, embezzlement of public funds, treason, felony, or petit larceny. The registration provision of old Constitution is struck out. Another authorizes the Legislature, by two-thirds vote, to enfranchise persons who have been disfranchised by dueling.

THE ELECTORAL VOTE.

The only provisions of the Constitution on the election of a President are contained in sects. 2, 3, 4, and 5 of Article II, and in the Twelfth Amendment, which alters and supplies section 3 of Art. II.

Laws were passed on the subject, 1st March, 1792; 26th March, 1804 (this after the adoption of the Twelfth Amendment), and 23d January, 1845 (this after the experience in Wisconsin, in December, 1844). These provisions are reiterated in U. S. Statutes, Title II, chap. 1, p. 21. Those relating to the Electoral College are:

Each State may by law provide for the filling of any vacancies which may occur in its college of electors, when such college meets to give its electoral vote. Whenever any State has held an election for the purpose of choosing electors, and has failed to make a choice on the day prescribed by law, the electors may be appointed on a subsequent day, in such a manner as the legislature of such State may direct. The electors for each State shall meet and give their votes upon the first Wednesday in December, in the year in which they are appointed, at such place, in each State, as the legislature of such State shall direct.

It shall be the duty of the executive of each State to cause three lists of the names of the electors of such State to be made and certified, and to be delivered to the electors, on or before the day on which they are required, by the preceding section, to meet. The electors shall vote for President and Vice-President respectively, in the manner directed by the Constitution. The electors shall make and sign three certificates of all the votes given by them, each of which certificates shall contain two distinct lists, one of the votes for President, and the other of the votes for Vice-President; and shall annex to each of the certificates one of the lists of the electors, which shall have been furnished to them by direction of the executive of the State. The electors shall seal up the certificates so made by them, and certify upon each that the lists of all the votes of such State given for President, and of all the votes given for Vice-President, are contained therein.

Other sections prescribe how each of these certificates is to be disposed of, one by messenger, and one by mail to the president of the Senate at the seat of Government, the other to the U. S. district judge of that district. This section follows:

Congress shall be in session on the second Wednesday in February succeeding every meeting of the electors, and the certificates, or so many of them as have been received, shall then be opened, the votes counted, and the persons to fill the offices of President and Vice-President ascertained and declared, agreeable to the Constitution.

The other sections of the law relate to details of no interest at present.

PARTY PLATFORMS IN 1876.

Republican Platform.

[Adopted by the Republican National Convention at Cincinnati, June 15.]

When, in the economy of Providence, this land was to be purged of human slavery, and when the strength of government of the people, by the people, and for the people, was to be demonstrated, the Republican party came into power. Its deeds have passed into history, and we look back to them with pride. Incited by their memories to high aims for the good of our country and mankind, and looking to the future with unfaltering courage, hope and purpose, we, the representatives of the party in National Convention assembled, make the following declarations of principles:

1. The United States of America is a Nation, not a league. By the combined workings of the National and State Governments, under their respective constitutions, the rights of every citizen are secured, at home and abroad, and the common welfare promoted.

2. The Republican party has preserved these Governments to the hundredth anniversary of the Nation's birth, and they are now embodiments of the great truths spoken at its cradle—"that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that for the attainment of these ends governments have been instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." Until these truths are cheerfully obeyed, or, if need be, vigorously enforced, the work of the Republican party is unfinished.

3. The permanent pacification of the Southern section of the Union, and the complete protection of all its citizens in the free enjoyment of all their rights, is a duty to which the Republican party stands sacredly pledged. The power to provide for the enforcement of the principles embodied in the recent constitutional amendments, is vested by those amendments in the Congress of the United States, and we declare it to be the solemn obligation of the legislative and executive departments of the Government to put into immediate and vigorous exercise all their constitutional powers for removing any just causes of discontent on the part of any class, and for securing to every American citizen complete liberty and exact equality in the exercise of all civil, political and public rights. To this end we imperatively demand a Congress and a Chief Executive whose courage and fidelity to these duties shall not falter until these results are placed beyond dispute or recall.

4. In the first act of Congress signed by President Grant, the National Government assumed to remove any doubts of its purpose to discharge all just obligations to the public creditors, and "solemnly pledged its faith to make provision at the earliest practicable period for the redemption of the United States notes in coin." Commercial prosperity, public morals and national credit demand that this promise be fulfilled by a continuous and steady progress to specie payment.

5. Under the Constitution, the President and heads of departments are to make nominations for office; the Senate is to advise and consent to appointments, and the House of Representatives is to accuse and prosecute faithless officers. The best interest of the public service demands that these distinctions be respected; that Senators and Representatives who may be judges and accusers should not dictate appointments to office. The invariable rule in appointments should have reference to the honesty, fidelity and capacity of the appointees, giving to the party in power those places where harmony and vigor of administration require its policy to be represented, but permitting all others to be filled by persons selected with sole reference to the efficiency of the public service, and the right of all citizens to share in the honor of rendering faithful service to the country.

6. We rejoice in the quickened conscience of the people concerning political affairs, and will hold all public officers to a rigid responsibility, and engage that the prosecution and punishment of all who betray official trusts shall be swift, thorough and unsparing.

7. The public school system of the several States is the bulwark of the American Republic, and with a view to its security and permanence we recommend an amendment to the Constitution of the United States forbidding the application of any public funds or property for the benefit of any schools or institutions under sectarian control.

8. The revenue necessary for current expenditures and the obligations of the public debt must be largely derived from duties upon importations, which, so far as possible, should be adjusted to promote the interests of American labor and advance the prosperity of the whole country.

9. We reaffirm our opposition to further grants of the public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the National domain be devoted to free homes for the people.

10. It is the imperative duty of the Government so to modify existing treaties with European Governments, that the same protection shall be afforded to the adopted American citizen that is given to the native born; and that all necessary laws should be passed to protect emigrants in the absence of power in the States for that purpose.

11. It is the immediate duty of Congress to fully investigate the effect of the immigration and importation of Mongolians upon the moral and material interests of the country.

12. The Republican party recognizes with approval the substantial advances recently made towards the establishment of equal rights for women by the many important amendments effected by Republican Legislatures in the laws which concern the personal and property relations of wives, mothers and widows, and by the appointment and election of women to the superintendence of education, charities and other public trusts. The honest demands of this class of citizens for additional rights, privileges and immunities should be treated with respectful consideration.

13. The Constitution confers upon Congress sovereign power over the Territories of the United States for their government, and in the exercise of this power it is the right and duty of Congress to prohibit and extirpate, in the Territories, that relic of barbarism—polygamy; and we demand such legislation as shall secure this end and the supremacy of American institutions in all the Territories.

14. The pledges which the Nation has given to her soldiers and sailors must be fulfilled, and a grateful people will always hold those who imperiled their lives for the country's preservation, in the kindest remembrance.

15. We sincerely deprecate all sectional feeling and tendencies. We therefore note with deep solicitude that the Democratic party counts, as its chief hope of success, upon the electoral vote of a united South, secured through the efforts of those who were recently arrayed against the Nation; and we invoke the earnest attention of the country to the grave truth that a success thus achieved would reopen sectional strife and imperil National honor and human rights.

16. We charge the Democratic party with being the same in character and spirit as when it sympathized with treason; with making its control of the House of Representatives the triumph and opportunity of the Nation's recent foes; with reasserting and applauding in the National Capitol the sentiments of unrepentant rebellion; with sending Union soldiers to the rear, and promoting Confederate soldiers to the front; with deliberately proposing to repudiate the plighted faith of the Government; with being equally false and imbecile upon the overshadowing financial questions; with thwarting the ends of justice by its partisan mismanagements and obstruction of investigation; with proving itself, through the period of its ascendency in the Lower House of Congress, utterly incompetent to administer the Government; and we warn the country against trusting a party thus alike unworthy, recreant and incapable.

17. The National Administration merits commendation for its honorable work in the management of domestic and foreign affairs, and President Grant deserves the continued hearty gratitude of the American people for his patriotism and his eminent services, in war and in peace.

Upon the reading of the resolutions,

EDWARD L. PIERCE, of Massachusetts, moved to strike out the eleventh resolution; which, after debate, was disagreed to—yeas 215; nays 532.

EDMUND J. DAVIS, of Texas, moved to strike out the fourth resolution and substitute for it the following:

Resolved, That it is the duty of Congress to provide for carrying out the act known as the Resumption Act of Congress, to the end that the resumption of specie payments may not be longer delayed.

Which, after a brief debate, was disagreed to on a viva voce vote.

The candidates were: RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, of Ohio, for President; WILLIAM A. WHEELER, of New York, for Vice-President.

Democratic Platform.

[Adopted by the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis, June 28.]

We, the delegates of the Democratic party of the United States, in National Convention assembled, do hereby declare the administration of the Federal Government to be in urgent need of immediate reform; do hereby enjoin upon the nominees of this Convention, and of the Democratic party in each State, a zealous effort and co-operation to this end; and do hereby appeal to our fellow citizens of every former political connection to undertake with us this first and most pressing patriotic duty.

For the Democracy of the whole country, we do here reaffirm our faith in the permanence of the Federal Union, our devotion to the Constitution of the United States, with its amendments universally accepted as a final settlement of the controversies that engendered civil war, and do here record our steadfast confidence in the perpetuity of republican self-government.

In absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority—the vital principle of republics; in the supremacy of the civil over the military authority; in the total separation of Church and State for the sake alike of civil and religious freedom; in the equality of all citizens before just laws of their own enactment; in the liberty of individual conduct, unvexed by sumptuary laws; in the faithful education of the rising generation, that they may preserve, enjoy, and transmit these best conditions of human happiness and hope, we behold the noblest products of a hundred years of changeful history; but while upholding the bond of our union and great charter of these our rights, it behooves a free people to practice also that eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty.

Reform is necessary to rebuild and establish in the hearts of the whole people, the Union, eleven years ago happily rescued from the danger of a secession of States; but now to be saved from a corrupt centralism, which, after inflicting upon ten States the rapacity of carpet-bag tyrannies, has honeycombed the offices of the Federal Government itself with incapacity, waste, and fraud, infected States and municipalities with the contagion of misrule, and locked fast the prosperity of an industrious people in the paralysis of "hard times."

Reform is necessary to establish a sound currency, restore the public credit, and maintain the national honor.

We denounce the failure, for all these eleven years of peace, to make good the promise of the legal tender notes, which are a changing standard of value in the hands of the people, and the non-payment of which is a disregard of the plighted faith of the nation.

We denounce the improvidence which, in eleven years of peace, has taken from the people in Federal taxes thirteen times the whole amount of the legal tender notes, and squandered four times their sum in useless expense, without accumulating any reserve for their redemption.

We denounce the financial imbecility and immorality of that party, which, during eleven years of peace, has made no advance toward resumption, no preparation for resumption, but instead has obstructed resumption, by wasting our resources and exhausting all our surplus income; and, while annually professing to intend a speedy return to specie payments, has annually enacted fresh hindrances thereto. As such a hindrance we denounce the resumption clause of the act of 1875 and we here demand its repeal.

We demand a judicious system of preparation by public economies, by official retrenchments, and by wise finance, which shall enable the nation soon to assure the whole world of its perfect ability, and its perfect readiness to meet any of its promises at the call of the creditor entitled to payment.

We believe such a system, well devised, and, above all, intrusted to competent hands for execution, creating at no time an artificial scarcity of currency, and at no time alarming the public mind into a withdrawal of that vaster machinery of credit by which ninety-five per cent. of all business transactions are performed—a system open, public, and inspiring general confidence, would from the day of its adoption bring healing on its wings to all our harassed industries, set in motion the wheels of commerce, manufactures, and the mechanic arts, restore employment to labor, and renew in all its natural sources the prosperity of the people.

Reform is necessary in the sum and mode of Federal taxation, to the end that capital may be set free from distrust, and labor lightly burdened.

We denounce the present Tariff, levied upon nearly 4,000 articles, as a masterpiece of injustice, inequality and false pretense. It yields a dwindling, not a yearly rising revenue. It has impoverished many industries to subsidize a few. It prohibits imports that might purchase the products of American labor. It has degraded American commerce from the first to an inferior rank on the high seas. It has cut down the sales of American manufactures at home and abroad, and depleted the returns of American agriculture—an industry followed by half our people. It costs the people five times more than it produces to the Treasury, obstructs the processes of production, and wastes the fruits of labor. It promotes fraud, fosters smuggling, enriches dishonest officials, and bankrupts honest merchants. We demand that all Custom House taxation shall be only for revenue.

Reform is necessary in the scale of public expenses—Federal, State, and Municipal. Our Federal taxation has swollen from sixty millions, gold, in 1860, to four hundred and fifty millions, currency, in 1870; our aggregate taxation from one hundred and fifty-four millions, gold, in 1860, to seven hundred and thirty millions, currency, in 1870; or, in one decade, from less than five dollars per head to more than eighteen dollars per head. Since the peace, the people have paid to their tax gatherers more than thrice the sum of the national debt, and more than twice that sum for the Federal Government alone. We demand a rigorous frugality in every department, and from every officer of the Government.

Reform is necessary to put a stop to the profligate waste of public lands, and their diversion from actual settlers by the party in power, which has squandered 200,000,000 of acres upon railroads alone, and out of more than thrice that aggregate has disposed of less than a sixth directly to tillers of the soil.

Reform is necessary to correct the omissions of a Republican Congress, and the errors of our treaties and our diplomacy, which have stripped our fellow citizens of foreign birth and kindred race, recrossing the Atlantic, of the shield of American citizenship, and have exposed our brethren of the Pacific coast to the incursions of a race not sprung from the same great parent stock, and in fact now by law denied citizenship through naturalization, as being neither accustomed to the traditions of a progressive civilization nor exercised in liberty under equal laws. We denounce the policy which thus discards the liberty-loving German and tolerates a revival of the coolie trade in Mongolian women imported for immoral purposes, and Mongolian men held to perform servile labor contracts, and demand such modification of the treaty with the Chinese Empire, or such legislation within constitutional limitations, as shall prevent further importation or immigration of the Mongolian race.

Reform is necessary, and can never be effected but by making it the controlling issue of the elections, and lifting it above the two false issues with which the office-holding class and the party in power seek to smother it:

1. The false issue with which they would enkindle sectarian strife in respect to the public schools, of which the establishment and support belong exclusively to the several States, and which the Democratic party has cherished from their foundation, and is resolved to maintain without prejudice or preference for any class, sect, or creed, and without largesses from the treasury to any.

2. The false issue by which they seek to light anew the dying embers of sectional hate between kindred peoples once estranged, but now reunited in one indivisible republic and a common destiny.

Reform is necessary in the Civil Service. Experience proves that efficient, economical conduct of the governmental business is not possible if its civil service be subject to change at every election, be a prize fought for at the ballot box, be a brief reward of party zeal, instead of posts of honor assigned for proved competency, and held for fidelity in the public employ; that the dispensing of patronage should neither be a tax upon the time of all our public men, nor the instrument of their ambition. Here, again, promises, falsified in the performance, attest that the party in power can work out no practical or salutary reform.

Reform is necessary even more in the higher grades of the public service. President, Vice-President, Judges, Senators, Representatives, Cabinet officers, these and all others in authority are the people's servants. Their offices are not a private perquisite, they are a public trust.

When the annals of this Republic show the disgrace and censure of a Vice-President; a late Speaker of the House of Representatives, marketing his rulings as a presiding officer; three Senators profiting secretly by their votes as law makers; five chairmen of the leading committees of the late House of Representatives exposed in jobbery; a late Secretary of the Treasury forcing balances in the public accounts; a late Attorney General misappropriating public funds; a Secretary of the Navy enriched or enriching friends by percentages levied off the profits of contractors with his department; an ambassador to England censured in a dishonorable speculation; the President's private secretary barely escaping conviction upon trial for guilty complicity in frauds upon the revenue; a Secretary of War impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors—the demonstration is complete, that the first step in reform must be the people's choice of honest men from another party, lest the disease of one political organization infect the body politic, and lest by making no change of men or parties we get no change of measures and no real reform.

All these abuses, wrongs and crimes, the product of sixteen years' ascendency of the Republican party, create a necessity for reform confessed by Republicans themselves; but their reformers are voted down in conventions and displaced from the Cabinet. The party's mass of honest voters is powerless to resist the 80,000 officeholders, its leaders and guides.

Reform can only be had by a peaceful civic revolution. We demand a change of system, a change of administration, a change of parties, that we may have a change of measures and of men.

Resolved, That this Convention, representing the Democratic party of the United States, do cordially indorse the action of the present House of Representatives in reducing and curtailing the expenses of the Federal Government, in cutting down salaries, extravagant appropriations, and in abolishing useless offices and places not required by the public necessities, and we shall trust to the firmness of the Democratic members of the House that no committee of conference and no misinterpretation of the rules will be allowed to defeat these wholesome measures of economy demanded by the country.

Resolved, That the soldiers and sailors of the Republic, and the widows and orphans of those who have fallen in battle, have a just claim upon the care, protection and gratitude of their fellow-citizens. Pending the report,

Mr. THOMAS EWING, of Ohio, presented the following minority report:

The undersigned members of the Committee recommend that the following clause in the resolutions reported by the Committee be stricken out: "As such hindrance we denounce the resumption clause of the act of 1875 and we here demand its repeal." And they recommend that there be substituted for that clause the following: "The law for the resumption of specie payments on the 1st of January, 1879, having been enacted by the Republican party without deliberation in Congress or discussion before the people, and being both ineffective to secure its objects and highly injurious to the business of the country, ought to be forthwith repealed."

After debate, the Convention rejected the minority report—yeas, 219; nays, 550.

The Platform, as reported, was then adopted—yeas, 651; nays, 83.

The candidates were: SAMUEL J. TILDEN, of New York, for President; THOMAS A. HENDRICKS, of Indiana, for Vice-President.

"Greenback" National Platform.

[Adopted at a National Mass Convention at Indianapolis, May 18.]

The Independent party is called into existence by the necessities of the people, whose industries are prostrated, whose labor is deprived of its just reward by a ruinous policy which the Republican and Democratic parties refuse to change, and in view of the failure of these parties to furnish relief to the depressed industries of the country, thereby disappointing the just hopes and expectations of the suffering people, we declare our principles and invite all independent and patriotic men to join our ranks in this movement for financial reform and industrial emancipation:

First. We demand the immediate and unconditional repeal of the specie resumption act of January 14, 1875, and the rescue of our industries from ruin and disaster resulting from its enforcement; and we call upon all patriotic men to organize in every Congressional District of the country with a view of electing representatives to Congress who will carry out the wishes of the people in this regard, and stop the present suicidal and destructive policy of contraction.

Second. We believe that a United States note issued directly by the Government and convertible on demand into United States obligations, bearing a rate of interest not exceeding one cent a day on each one hundred dollars, and exchangeable for United States notes at par, will afford the best circulating medium ever devised. Such United States notes should be full legal-tenders for all purposes, except for the payment of such obligations as are by existing contracts especially made payable in coin, and we hold that it is the duty of the Government to provide such circulating medium, and insist, in the language of Thomas Jefferson, that "bank paper must be suppressed and the circulation restored to the nation, to whom it belongs."

Third. It is the paramount duty of the Government, in all its legislation, to keep in view the full development of all legitimate business, agricultural, mining, manufacturing and commercial.

Fourth. We most earnestly protest against any further issue of gold bonds for sale in foreign markets, by which we would be made for a long period "hewers of wood and drawers of water" to foreigners, especially as the American people would gladly and promptly take at par all bonds the Government may need to sell, provided they are made payable at the option of the holder and bearing interest at 3.65 per cent. per annum, or even a lower rate.

Fifth. We further protest against the sale of Government bonds for the purpose of purchasing silver to be used as a substitute for our more convenient and less fluctuating fractional currency, which, although well calculated to enrich owners of silver mines, yet in operation it will still further oppress in taxation an already over-burdened people.

A subsequent resolution against railroad subsidies was adopted.

Their candidates were: PETER COOPER, of New York, for President; SAMUEL F. CARY, of Ohio, for Vice-President.

"Prohibition" National.

[Adopted by a Convention at Cleveland, May 17.]

The Prohibition Reform party of the United States, organized in the name of the people, to revive, enforce and perpetuate in the Government the doctrines of the Declaration of Independence, submit in this Centennial year of the Republic for the suffrages of all good citizens the following platform of national reforms and measures:

First. The legal prohibition in the District of Columbia, the Territories, and in every other place subject to the laws of Congress, of the importation, exportation, manufacture and traffic of all alcoholic beverages, as high crimes against society; an amendment of the national Constitution to render these prohibitory measures universal and permanent; and the adoption of treaty stipulations with foreign powers to prevent the importation and exportation of all alcoholic beverages.

Second. The abolition of class legislation and of special privileges in the Government, and the adoption of equal suffrage and eligibility to office without distinction of race, religious creed, property or sex.

Third. The appropriation of the public lands in limited quantities to actual settlers only; the reduction of the rates of inland and ocean postage; of telegraphic communication; of railroad and water transportation and travel to the lowest practical point by force of laws, wisely and justly framed, with reference not only to the interests of capital employed, but to the higher claims of the general good.

Fourth. The suppression, by laws, of lotteries and gambling in gold, stocks, produce and every form of money and property, and the penal inhibition of the use of the public mails for advertising schemes of gambling and lotteries.

Fifth. The abolition of those foul enormities, polygamy and the social evil, and the protection of purity, peace and happiness of homes by ample and efficient legislation.

Sixth. The national observance of the Christian Sabbath, established by laws prohibiting ordinary labor and business in all departments of public service and private employment (works of necessity, charity and religion excepted), on that day.

Seventh. The establishment by mandatory provisions in National and State constitutions, and by all necessary legislation, of a system of free public schools for the universal and forced education of all the youth of the land.

Eighth. The free use of the Bible, not as a ground of religious creeds, but as a text-book of purest morality, the best liberty and the noblest literature, in our public schools, that our children may grow up in its light, and that its spirit and principles may pervade our nation.

Ninth. The separation of the Government in all its departments and institutions, including the public schools and all funds for their maintenance, from the control of every religious sect or other association, and the protection alike of all sects by equal laws, with entire freedom of religious faith and worship.

Tenth. The introduction into all treaties hereafter negotiated with foreign governments, of a provision for the amicable settlement of international difficulties by arbitration.

Eleventh. The abolition of all barbarous modes and instruments of punishment. The recognition of the laws of God and the claims of humanity in the discipline of jails and prisons, and of that higher and wiser civilization worthy of our age and nation, which regards the reform of criminals as a means for the prevention of crime.

Twelfth. The abolition of executive and legislative patronage, and the election of President, Vice-President, United States Senators, and of all civil officers, so far as practicable, by the direct vote of the people.

Thirteenth. The practice of a friendly and liberal policy to immigrants from all nations, the guaranty to them of ample protection, and of equal rights and privileges.

Fourteenth. The separation of the money of Government from all banking institutions. The National Government only should exercise the high prerogative of issuing paper money, and that should be subject to prompt redemption on demand, in gold and silver, the only equal standards of value recognized by the civilized world.

Fifteenth. The reduction of the salaries of public officers in a just ratio with the decline of wages and market prices, the abolition of sinecures, unnecessary offices and official fees and perquisites; the practice of strict economy in government expenses, and a free and thorough investigation into any and all alleged abuses of public trusts.

Their candidates were: GREEN CLAY SMITH, of Kentucky, for President; GIDEON T. STEWART, of Ohio, for Vice-President.

"The American" National.

[Adopted, in mass meeting, Pittsburgh, June 9, 1875.]

We hold: 1. That ours is a Christian and not a heathen nation, and that the God of the Christian Scriptures is the author of civil government.

2. That God requires and man needs a Sabbath.

3. That the prohibition of the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating drinks as a beverage, is the true policy on the temperance question.

4. The charters of all secret lodges granted by our Federal and State Legislatures should be withdrawn, and their oaths prohibited by law.

5. That the civil equality secured to all American citizens by article 13th, 14th and 15th of our amended Constitution should be preserved inviolate.

6. That arbitration of differences with nations is the most direct and sure method of securing and perpetuating a permanent peace.

7. That to cultivate the intellect without improving the morals of men, is to make mere adepts and experts: therefore the Bible should be associated with books of science and literature in all our educational institutions.

8. That land and other monopolies should be discountenanced.

9. That the Government should furnish the people with an ample and sound currency, and a return to specie payment as soon as practicable.

10. That maintenance of the public credit, protection to all loyal citizens, and justice to Indians are essential to the honor and safety of our nation.

11. And finally, we demand for the American people the abolition of Electoral Colleges, and a direct vote for President and Vice-President of the United States.

Their candidates were: JAMES B. WALKER, Wheaton, Ill., for President; and DONALD KIRKPATRICK, Syracuse, N. Y., for Vice-President.

Previous to the election of 1804, each elector voted for two candidates for President, and the person receiving the highest number of votes, if a majority of the whole number of electors, was declared to be President; and the person having the next highest number was Vice-President. At the first election, 1788, there were 69 electors, all of whom voted for Washington, and 34 for JOHN ADAMS, and there were 35 "scattering" votes, of which JOHN JAY, of N. Y., received 9, ROBERT H. HARRISON 6, JOHN RUTLEDGE, of S. C., 6, JOHN HANCOCK, of Mass., 4, GEORGE CLINTON, of N.Y., 3, SAMUEL HUNTINGTON, of Conn., 2, JOHN MILTON 2, JAMES ARMSTRONG, of Penna., 1, EDWARD TELFAIR, of Georgia, 1, and BENJAMIN LINCOLN 1. At this election, three States did not vote, viz.: New York (8) which had not passed an electoral law, North Carolina (7) which had not adopted the Constitution, and Rhode Island (3). In 1792, 4 votes were cast for THOMAS JEFFERSON (of Virginia), and 1 for AARON BURR (of New York). In 1796, of the 46 "scattering," SAMUEL ADAMS (of Mass.) had 15, OLIVER ELLSWORTH (of Conn.) 11, GEORGE CLINTON (of N. Y.) 7, JOHN JAY (of N. Y.) 5, JAMES IREDELL (of N. C.) 3, GEORGE WASHINGTON 2, SAMUEL JOHNSTON (of N. C.) 2, JOHN HENRY (of Md.) 2, and CHARLES COTESWORTH PINCKNEY (of S. C.) 1. In 1800, there having been a tie vote between THOMAS JEFFERSON and AARON BURR, in the College, the choice devolved upon the House of Representatives, which, on the 36th ballot, on the 17th of February, 1801, being the sixth day devoted to balloting, elected THOMAS JEFFERSON President, ten States concurring, viz.: Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Vermont, and Virginia. The States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island voted for Mr. BURR; and Delaware and South Carolina voted by blank ballots. Mr. BURR became the Vice-President. In the Electoral College, John Jay (of N. Y.) received 1 vote.

In 1808, George Clinton (of N. Y.) received 6 votes for President, and for Vice-President John Langdon (of N. H.) received 9, and James Madison (of Va.) and James Monroe (of Va.) each 3. In 1816, there was no regular Federal opposition to Daniel D. Tompkins (of N. Y.) for Vice-President, but there were 34 "scattering" votes, of which John E. Howard (of Md.) had 22, James Ross (of Penn.) 5, John Marshall (of Va.) 4, and Robert G. Harper (of Md.) 3. In 1820, there was no organized opposition to Mr. Madison and Mr. Tompkins, but one vote (from New Hampshire) was cast for John Quincy Adams (of Mass.) for President, and one elector in Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Mississippi each, having died, failed to vote for President; for Vice-President, 8 votes were cast for Richard Stockton of New Jersey, 4 for Daniel Rodney of Delaware, 1 for Robert G. Harper of Maryland, and 1 for Richard Rush of Pennsylvania. The electoral College consisted of 232, without Missouri, whose formal admission was not proclaimed by the President till August 10, 1821, or 235 with it. As Mr. Madison and Mr. Tompkins had a majority in the event of either counting or excluding the vote of Missouri, they were declared elected President and Vice-President.

In 1824, no choice having been made of President by the Electoral College, the House of Representatives chose from the three highest in vote. On the first ballot, JOHN QUINCY ADAMS received the votes of Connecticut, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, and Vermont—13; ANDREW JACKSON received the votes of Alabama, Indiana, Mississippi, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, and Tennessee—7; WILLIAM H. CRAWFORD received the votes of Delaware, Georgia, North Carolina, and Virginia—4; and Mr. ADAMS was declared elected. For Vice-President, ANDREW JACKSON had 13 votes—8 from Connecticut, 3 from Missouri, 1 from Maryland, and 1 from New Hampshire; MARTIN VAN BUREN of New York, 9 from Georgia; and HENRY CLAY of Kentucky, 2 from Delaware. In 1828, WILLIAM SMITH, of South Carolina, had 7 votes from Georgia, for Vice-President. In 1832, for Vice-President, WILLIAM WILKINS, of Pennsylvania, had 30 votes from Pennsylvania; HENRY LEE, of Massachusetts, 11 from South Carolina; and AMOS ELLMAKER, of Pennsylvania, 7 from Vermont. Two votes in favor of Mr. CLAY for President, and Mr. SERGEANT for Vice-President, were lost because of the illness of two of the electors chosen in Maryland, the State law not having given power to fill vacancies. In 1836, no candidate for Vice-President having received a majority of the votes of the Electoral College (which being 294 with Michigan counted, required 148 for a majority, or 291 without Michigan, required 146 for a majority, in either event there being no majority for any one), the Senate elected RICHARD M. JOHNSON, of Kentucky, who received 33 votes, and FRANCIS GRANGER, 16. As the Electoral College consisted of 291 without Michigan, whose formal admission was declared by act of Congress approved January 26, 1837, or 294 with it, and Mr. VAN BUREN received 167 votes without it, or 170 with it, and that vote did not affect the result; the vote was announced in the alternative, and Mr. VAN BUREN's election proclaimed. In 1840, 11 votes from South Carolina were cast for Vice-President, for LITTLETON W. TAZEWELL, of Virginia, and 1 vote from Virginia for JAMES K. POLK of Tennessee. In 1856, it appears from the record that the electors of Wisconsin cast their votes on the 4th day of December, instead of the 3d. The teller on the part of the House reported that fact, in his statement to the president of the two houses, and indicated the figures given above as the result, including the 5 votes of Wisconsin; and the presiding officer deciding out of order all debate, on a suggestion as to the propriety of rejecting said vote, proceeded to declare that Mr. BUCHANAN had received 174 votes, Mr. FREMONT 114, and Mr. FILLMORE 8; and that Mr. BUCHANAN, having the greatest number of votes for President, that number being a majority of the whole number of electors, had been duly elected President. The subject of the counting of Wisconsin was debated in each house, after adjournment of the joint meeting, but it was finally tabled without action by either. In 1864, the return from Nevada showed the vote of but two electors, one having died after his election, and the law of the State not providing the authority to fill the vacancy. After reading the returns given above, the Vice-President (Mr. HAMLIN), on inquiry made, stated that he had "in his possession returns from the States of Louisiana and Tennessee, but in obedience to the law of the land, the chair holds it to be his duty not to present them." This "law of the land" was a joint resolution, approved February 8, 1865—the day of the counting—resolving that, whereas the inhabitants and local authorities of the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and Tennessee rebelled against the Government of the United States, and were in such condition on the 8th of November, 1864, that no valid election of electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, according to the Constitution and laws thereof, was held therein on said day; therefore the States mentioned are not entitled to representation in the Electoral College for the choice of President and Vice-President of the United States, for the term commencing March 4th, 1865, and no electoral votes shall be received and counted from said States for said term. Mr. LINCOLN, in a message announcing his approval, disclaimed all power in the executive to defeat or obstruct the power in the two Houses of Congress, under the twelfth amendment, to exclude from the count all electoral votes deemed by them to be illegal, or in any way to interfere with the canvassing or counting the electoral vote; and said he signed the joint resolution in deference to the view of Congress implied in its passage and presentation to him. In 1868, the two houses adopted a concurrent resolution, reciting that whereas the question whether the State of Georgia has become and is entitled to representation in the two Houses of Congress is now pending and undetermined, if the counting or omitting to count the electoral vote of Georgia shall not essentially change the result, the result shall be reported as in the alternative by the presiding officer of the two houses. Counting it, SEYMOUR and BLAIR had each 80 votes; excluding it, they had each 71 votes. In 1872, the full vote of the Electoral College for President was 366, of which 17 were excluded, being the 8 votes of Louisiana (the two houses concurring), the 6 votes of Arkansas (the Senate voting to reject and the House to receive), and 3 votes cast in Georgia for Horace Greeley, he being then dead, (the Senate voting to receive and the House to reject). The votes counted on President were 349, on Vice-President, 352. On the latter, there were these additional votes: 5 from Georgia, for ALFRED H. COLQUITT, of Georgia; 5 from Missouri, for GEORGE W. JULIAN, of Indiana; 3 from Kentucky, for THOMAS E. BRAMLETTE, of Kentucky; 3 from Missouri, for JOHN M. PALMER, of Illinois; 1 from Georgia, for NATHANIEL P. BANKS, of Massachusetts; 1 from Missouri, for WILLIAM S. GROESBECK, of Ohio; and 1 from Kentucky, for WILLIS B. MACHEN, of Kentucky. In 1876, the vote is given as believed to have been legally cast. It will be officially declared in February.

The Twenty-second Joint Rule.

This rule was adopted February 6, 1865, and is as follows:

22. The two houses shall assemble in the hall of the House of Representatives at the hour of 1 o'clock P. M. on the second Wednesday in February next succeeding the meeting of the electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, and the president of the Senate shall be their presiding officer; one teller shall be appointed on the part of the Senate, and two on the part of the House of Representatives, to whom shall be handed, as they are opened by the president of the Senate, the certificates of the electoral votes; and said tellers having read the same in the presence and hearing of the two houses thus assembled, shall make a list of the votes as they shall appear from the said certificates; and the votes having been counted, the result of the same shall be delivered to the president of the Senate, who shall thereupon announce the state of the vote and the names of the persons, if any elected; which announcement shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of the persons elected President and Vice-President of the United States, and, together with a list of the votes, be entered on the journals of the two houses.

If, upon the reading of any such certificate by the tellers, any question shall arise in regard to counting the votes therein certified, the same having been stated by the presiding officer, the Senate shall thereupon withdraw, and said question shall be submitted to that body for its decision; and the speaker of the House of Representatives shall, in like manner, submit said question to the House of Representatives for its decision. And no question shall be decided affirmatively, and no vote objected to shall be counted, except by the concurrent votes of the two houses; which being obtained, the two houses shall immediately reassemble, and the presiding officer shall then announce the decision of the question submitted; and upon any such question there shall be no debate in either house. And any other question pertinent to the object for which the two houses are assembled may be submitted and determined in like manner.

At such joint meeting of the two houses seats shall be provided as follows: For the president of the Senate, the "speaker's chair;" for the speaker, a chair immediately upon his left; for the senators, in the body of the hall upon the right of the presiding officer; for the representatives, in the body of the hall not occupied by the senators; for the tellers, secretary of the Senate, and clerk of the House of Representatives, at the clerk's desk; for the other officers of the two houses, in front of the clerk's desk and upon either side of the speaker's platform.

Such joint meeting shall not be dissolved until the electoral votes are all counted and the result declared; and no recess shall be taken, unless a question shall have arisen in regard to counting any of such votes, in which case it shall be competent for either house, acting separately in the manner hereinbefore provided, to direct a recess not beyond the next day, at the hour of 1 o'clock P. M.

Under this rule, the counting of the electoral vote in 1865, 1869, and 1873, proceeded. At the first session of the present Congress—January 20, 1876—the Senate passed a concurrent resolution adopting the joint rules in force at the close of the previous session of Congress as the joint rules for that session, "excepting the twenty-second joint rule." The House failed to act on the resolution. The president of the Senate ruled, at this session of Congress, that there were, hence, no joint rules in operation. The speaker of the House ruled that the joint rules previously existing still existed. In the Senate, after debate, the decision of the president pro tempore was sustained, with but five recorded votes in the negative, and one paired.

The "Anti-Secret Society ticket," in 1876, received 23 votes in Kansas, 286 in Illinois, 71 in Michigan, 76 in Ohio, 83 in Pennsylvania—539 in all. There were 1,778 votes returned as "scattering" in various States. In Michigan, there were 12,937 returned as "imperfect and scattering."

U. S. Officers as Electors.

In view of the interest attaching to the questions growing out of the choice by the people of persons, as Presidential electors, who are disqualified under the provisions of the Constitution, the subjoined extracts are taken from the report of a committee in the U. S. Senate, February 4, 1837. The committee consisted of Felix Grundy, Henry Clay, and Silas Wright. Not having ascertained the identity of the persons, the committee say:

"The committee cannot adopt the opinion entertained by some, that a single illegal vote would vitiate the whole electoral vote of the college of electors in which it was given, particularly in cases where the vote of the whole college has been given for the same persons.

"The committee are of opinion that the second section of the second article of the Constitution, which declares that 'no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector,' ought to be carried in its whole spirit into rigid execution, in order to prevent officers of the General Government from bringing their official power to influence the elections of President and Vice-President of the United States. This provision of the Constitution, it is believed, excludes and disqualifies deputy postmasters from the appointment of electors; and the disqualification relates to the time of the appointments, and that a resignation of the office of deputy postmaster after his appointment as elector would not entitle him to vote as elector under the Constitution.

"Should a case occur in which it became necessary to ascertain and determine upon the qualifications of electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, the important question would be presented, what tribunal would, under the Constitution, be competent to decide? Whether the respective colleges of electors in the different States should decide upon the qualifications of their own members, or Congress should exercise the power, is a question which the committee are of opinion ought to be settled by a permanent provision upon the subject."

[Nelson I. Norton was elected Nov., 1875, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Allen. Mr. Norton, Rep., received 4,961 in Cattaraugus, and 5,809 in Chautauqua—total 10,770. Mr. Charles S. Cary received 4,525 in Cattaraugus, and 4,614 in Chautauqua—total 9,139. Mr. Flint Blanchard had 72. The State canvassing board declined to give Mr. Norton a certificate of election, because in one county he was voted for for "Representative in Congress," and in the other for "Member of Congress." Mr. Norton was qualified the first day of the session of the XLIVth Congress.]

MINNESOTA—Cont'd.

Three amendments to the Constitution of the State were ratified at this election. One authorizes the Governor to veto certain items of appropriation of money, and approve others in any bill presented to him, subject to the action of two-thirds of each branch of the legislature, if in session, as in other vetoes. Another authorizes the Governor, or Lieutenant Governor if the Governor be an interested party, to assign district judges to sit on the supreme bench to hear cases in which all, or a majority of the supreme judges shall from any cause be disqualified from sitting. Another limits the liability of each stockholder in any corporation, to all unpaid installments on stock owned by him or transferred for the purpose of defrauding creditors.

Prior to the decision of the Supreme Court, and in the argument before the canvassing board, the counsel for the Democratic committee claimed changes and corrections in the returns, which would make Mr. Tilden's majority 1,107, and, in another contingency named, 2,219. Other claims were put forth of a majority of 361 for Tilden; 791 for Drew; 946 for Hull; of 597 for Congress in 1st District, and 216 in the 2d.

Below is a statement of the actual result alleged by the returning Board, as appearing from the "face of the returns" when opened by them, on the 28th of November last:

Av. vote	91672	90856

* By clerical error, Mr. Hurley's name was omitted from one return in Charleston county.

These figures were those appearing on the "face of the returns," as made from the counties to the State Canvassing Board, and reported by the Board to the Supreme Court, under order so to do. Subsequently, a committee was appointed by the U. S. House of Representatives, to examine into the election of electors in South Carolina, who compiled a return made up from the precinct returns, as distinguished from the returns of the County Commissioners. This committee agree in reporting the result of the election, as follows:

Republicans.			Democrats
Chrls. C. Bowen..	92081	91440	T. G. Barker.
John Winsmith...	92117	91462	Samuel M'Gowan.

Av. vote.....	92104	91439

The lowest Republican Elector has a majority over the highest Democratic candidate, by the first count, of 230; by the second, of 619. The majority of the highest Republican over the highest Democrat is, by the first count, 964; by the second, 666. The average Republican majority, by the first count, is 816; by the second, 666.

The Democratic claim of the actual vote on Governor (including Edgefield and Laurens, thrown out by the Returning Board for violence, intimidation, and fraud), is as follows:

GOVERNOR.

Daniel H. Chamberlain, Rep.....	91127
Wade Hampton, Dem.....	92261
Hampton's maj.....	1134

LIEUT. GOVERNOR.

Richard H. Gleaves, Rep.....	91550
Wm. D. Simpson, Dem.....	91689
Simpson's maj.....	139

Two Legislatures were organized, each purported to count the vote for Governor and Lieut. Governor. One declared the Republican candidates elected; the other, the Democratic. Each candidate for Governor took an oath of office, and delivered an inaugural address, and each body chose a U. S. Senator to fill the vacancy to occur 3d of March, 1877. They have both adjourned.

As nearly as can be ascertained, the facts respecting the rival legislative bodies are as follow:

A full Senate consists of 33 persons. Of these, the election of 31 was regularly returned by the State Board of Canvassers, and certificates issued. Certificates were not issued to the two Democratic candidates in the counties of Edgefield and Laurens. Of the 33 Senators, 31 only had certificates. Of these, 18 were Republicans, and 13 Democrats.

A full House consists of 124 persons. Of these, 116 had regular certificates from the State Board of Canvassers, by whom certificates were refused to five claimants from Edgefield and three from Laurens. Of the 116 who had certificates, 59 participated in the organization of the Mackey House. That House afterwards seated the five Republican contestants in Barnwell, five in Abbeville, and four in Aiken. The election in Edgefield and Laurens was declared not valid. On the 12th of December, when a U. S. Senator was voted for, there were 68 present in the House, and 31 in the Senate, when Mr. Corbin received of the Senate 17, and M. W. Gary, 12; and of the House, 58 of 68 present.

and Mr. Cook's from one in Richland county, which accounts for the discrepancy between their vote and that of their colleagues.

The Hampton interest did not attempt to organize an independent Senate. But with their 57 regularly certified members, they united the five from Edgefield and three from Laurens, and with other changes obtained 68 persons, of whom, it was claimed, 60 had regular certificates. Gen. Wallace was elected Speaker. The number afterwards rose, by accessions, to 62, and to 63, and by defections fell again to 62. On the 19th of December, when M. C. Butler was voted for by them for U. S. Senator, they claimed to have 79 Senators and Representatives in the Joint Assembly, of whom 64 voted for Mr. Butler. The Democratic members of the Senate attended, though they, or most of them, participated in the election on the 12th, when David T. Corbin was chosen.

The following are the aggregates on other State officers, as declared by the Board of Canvassers:

R. HOE & CO.'S PATENT CHISEL TOOTH SAWS.

The numerous voluntary testimonials we have received the past year from lumbermen in every section of the country justify us in saying that we have attained nearer to perfection in the manufacture of Inserted Tooth Saws, than has been hitherto thought possible. Our Patent Saws are now made from 13 to 6 gauge, and from 12 to 72 inches in diameter. The accompanying illustration shows the sockets and teeth employed for different purposes. The teeth are so readily changed that the saws never need be taken from the mandrel.

The figure at the left of the cut shows the lever applied, and the shank turned into the position required to receive a tooth. It will be seen that the projection on jaw C will engage with the notch in the tooth D, and the shank, when turned back, will carry the tooth with it into the socket, and stop against the shoulder.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE is published every Tuesday and Friday, and is accounted by its rapidly increasing number of subscribers and friends the best family newspaper in America. It is entirely different and better than a collection of matter from the columns of THE DAILY TRIBUNE. A large portion of its contents is prepared expressly for it, and includes much that appears in no other edition of THE TRIBUNE. In addition to a careful summary of the news, THE SEMI-WEEKLY contains all the best of the foreign and domestic correspondence and leading articles of the daily; gives specially the scientific intelligence (including the proceedings of all American scientific societies), with the best of the book reviews, and the miscellaneous matter relating to education, the arts, religion, etc. It has all the commercial news and market reports; all the agricultural articles of the weekly; and gives, moreover, regularly a serial work of fiction, presenting in the course of the year three or four of the latest productions of the most popular novelists. As it takes only a few select advertisements, it is enabled to give an unusually large proportion of reading matter, and may be called, considering the extent and variety of its contents, the cheapest newspaper in the world.

To that large and increasing class who are not content with a paper once a week, and whose circumstances or mail facilities will not permit a daily, THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE will be found particularly acceptable. Teachers and public educators will find THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE a daily help and necessity.

☞ Specimen copies of either edition of THE TRIBUNE will be sent free on application.

THE GREAT FAMILY PAPER.

THE

New York Ledger

FOR THE NEW YEAR 1877.

The NEW YORK LEDGER, now one year older, but ever new, reminds its readers that the season has arrived for the renewal of their annual subscriptions.

Many of those who were children when they first began to read the LEDGER now have children of their own who read their favorite paper. There could hardly be a stronger testimonial to the excellence of its character than is thus given to the LEDGER by the regular renewal of these subscriptions.

Our great exertion for the coming year will be to make a volume that will compare favorably with the best of its predecessors.

The LEDGER is always alive and fresh and full of interest.

The stories for the coming year will be by the most popular of our old writers and the best of the new writers who have occasionally contributed to our columns.

The miscellaneous articles by eminent scholars and divines will be continued: so will our accurate scientific department.

We shall reply, as heretofore, to the innumerable questions sent to us on love and domestic affairs, and every variety of subject.

Wherever the LEDGER goes—and it goes nearly everywhere—it is generally conceded there is not a reader to whose happiness it does not minister.

Our subscribers will have no postage to pay. We prepay the postage on every paper that we mail.

OUR TERMS FOR 1877.—POSTAGE FREE.

Single copies, $3 per annum; four copies, $10, which is $2.50 a copy; eight copies, $20, POSTAGE FREE. NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

"THE LEADING AMERICAN NEWSPAPER."

The Paper for Business Men, Farmers, Families, and all the People.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE is a live, intelligent, and thorough newspaper, publishing at the earliest moment, and often in advance of all other papers, all the news of the world.

It is candid and independent in its opinions and political convictions. It is not a party organ, and is outspoken in condemnation of fraud or corruption in any party; but its political principles are, as they always have been, essentially Republican, and are well embodied in Gov. Hayes's admirable letter of acceptance.

It is an excellent family paper. "Home Interests" has made it indispensable in many homes; and its Miscellany, Stories, Fashion Articles, and Dry Goods Market Reports, make it of daily use in every household. It is the best farmers' paper published, and the Weekly "has done more to make good farmers than any other single influence which ever existed."

It publishes full, fresh and accurate Market Reports—the price of every article bought and sold in the markets of the world from day to day.

In THE DAILY TRIBUNE special attention and liberal space are given to Literature, Art, Science, Education, Religious news and kindred topics, in each of which THE TRIBUNE has become a favorite medium of communication and a recognized authority, at home and abroad.

It is a complete newspaper, representing the progress, the advancement, and the interests of the American people.
